Your career growth, is your responsibility.

Nothing worth having comes easy, and it will require diligence and actively seizing opportunities. Besides voicing one's ambitions and looking for ways to learn new things there are several milestones in a one's life which are critical in defining long-term success. The diverse field of Engineering has both challenges and opportunities for young women.

This Saturday, IEEE SB of NITW has over Ms. Sunita Nadampalli, an alumna from NIT Warangal. She's here to talk about her journey from being a EEE graduate to a Software Development Manager at Amazon, USA. This is an opportunity for the young, bright minds out there to seize the chance to interact with an expert of such accolades.

We're so thankful for the chance to be her host and we hope you grab the chance to obtain career advice you'll find nowhere else.
